NOTES

Shiro was a Japanese student studying in the United States when he joined a group of anti-nuclear protesters staging a rally on the anniversary of the Hiroshima bombing. Some of the more radical protesters chose to make their point by detonating a bomb in a nuclear power plant. Shiro tried to stop the bomb, but was knocked out and left behind as a scapegoat. When the bomb exploded, Shiro was not killed but instead transformed into the atomic-powered Sunstorm.

While occasionally allying himself with the JLX, Sunstorm's arrogant attitude has also put him at odds with them at times. An odd man out, he is a somewhat unwilling member of Extreme Works, his reasons for joining known only to himself.
