

INFOCOMP PERSONAL PROFILE: "PYTHON"

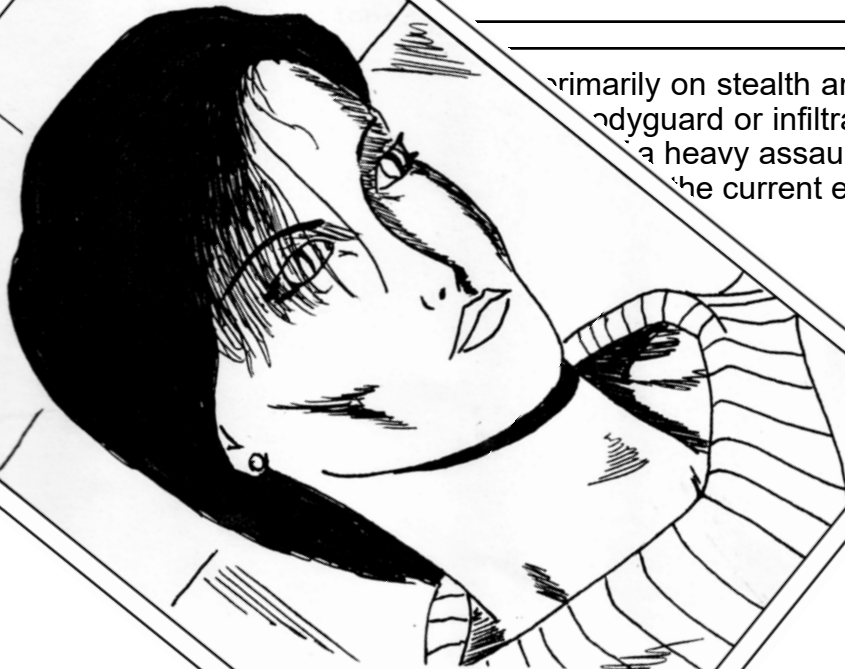

Client: Biotechnica
Investigating Officer: Roger Stern
Reason for Profile: Subject review for suitability as front line combatant in corporate police action.

Subject Name: Patricia Ellis
Known Aliases: Python
Base of Operations: Night City, NorCal, USA
Known Associates: Peter Knowles (a.k.a. Gears the Clockwork Man)

HISTORY: Well known in mercenary circles as a quintessential Razorgirl, Python has served as a spy, bodyguard, and assassin for a diverse array of clients, including Microtech, underworld kingpin Antoni Scagetalia, and the Internal Revenue Service.

Research indicates the subject grew up in lower Manhattan, near Greenwich Village, though no official records exist prior to her teenage years. Records show that as a teenager she worked as an exotic dancer (and probable prostitute) in various locations across the East Coast Sprawl.

At age 20 the subject traveled to Tokyo, where her current cyberware is believed to have been installed. It was shortly after this that she appeared in Night City using the Python handle and working as a razorgirl for hire. She has since operated all over the United States and has performed some work in the EC.

primarily on stealth and style when operating. She is well suited for bodyguard or infiltration/assassination. She is, however, untrained in a heavy assault team. Recommendation for the current endeavor is to use the current endeavor.

Sorry I couldn't get you the job, Sweetheart. If you're interested, I've got something else online.
